McCutchon death remains mystery, some officials suspect suicide

By RICH ADAMS

The gunshot death of a Waveland realtor found Tuesday in her home remained unclassified late Wednesday. Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet, however, said Wednesday, "I think the death is definitely not a murder."

But law enforcement officers investigating the death of Marjorie Kempf McCutchon of Waveland have not ruled out the possibility of either murder, suicide or accidental shooting in the case.

Mrs. McCutchon's body was discovered early Tuesday morning in her home on Grovsnor Place in Waveland by Waveland Police after they received a call about 9:30 a.m. Tuesday asking them to investigate the home. Waveland police withheld identity of the caller.

McCutchon was found sprawled on the floor with a single bullet wound through her chest slightly above the heart shortly after receiving that call. Banderet said she had been dead for approximately 10 hours.

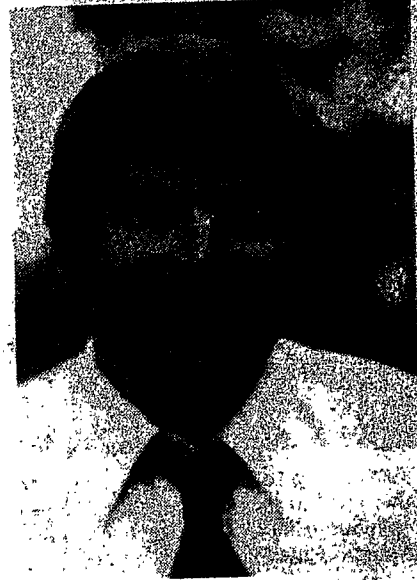

At the scene of the shooting, officials initially described the death as "a probable suicide."

But at a press conference conducted at the Waveland Police Department Tuesday afternoon, Waveland Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille refused to rule the death a murder or suicide until a further investigation is completed.

An official at the McCutchon home Tuesday morning described the scene inside the house, explaining he thought McCutchon had stood on a chair, pointed a .32 caliber pistol at her chest, and shot herself.

He added the shot was fired from a close range. He said the pistol was discovered on a closet shelf above the body.

District Attorney Albert Nicaise was at the scene Tuesday morning, but declined to comment on the case pending further investigation by Waveland Police.

"It's Poochie's investigation...I don't want to say anything," Nicaise said. At the press conference, Tartavouille said a .32 caliber pistol was in the home, but would not tell where the gun was found or confirm it as the weapon used in the shooting.

"We found a .32 caliber pistol in the home, but we are not sure if it is the weapon she was shot with," Tartavouille said Tuesday.

"We boxed it up and sent it to the crime laboratory in Gulfport. We didn't check to see how many shells it contained," he added.

Banderet said the bullet went through McCutchon's body and lodged in a wall. Tartavouille said investigators recovered the bullet and have sent it to the crime laboratory for ballistics tests.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn also conceded that investigators are not sure the gun was the death weapon. Dorn said investigators from his department and the Mississippi Highway Patrol could find no signs of forced entry at the McCutchon home. He also said reports that the home had been ransacked were false.

"It appeared normal," Dorn said of the dwelling interior.

The chief also said McCutchon was not wearing any jewelry when the body was discovered, adding an inventory of personal possessions showed no jewelry missing.

Earlier rumors indicated expensive jewelry had been taken from the home. The officials did not rule out absolutely the possibility of foul play in the shooting.

Considered mentally ill

Arson suspect hospitalized

By RICH ADAMS

A Bay St. Louis man arrested in March on arson and disturbing the peace charges has been temporarily released from Hancock County Jail and admitted to the Gulfport Veterans' Administration Hospital for treatment of mental illness.

Bruce Fayard, 28, Washington Road, was released from jail April 18. He had been jailed since March 16 after he allegedly went on a two-day arson spree on Washington Road, starting brush fires and burning a home owned by a Metairie, La. man.

Fayard's mother, Anne, and his brother, T.J. Fayard, claimed the man is mentally ill and should be admitted to a hospital.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, however, had refused to acknowledge Fayard's reported mental illness or to drop charges and allow Fayard to be hospitalized.

But Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson said Monday Fayard was released on April 18 "because we felt like he needed treatment."

"In order to release Fayard, the charges were passed to the files, they are not dropped," Peterson said Monday.

"We felt like he needed treatment, and now when he gets out (of the hospital) he can be charged with arson and disturbing the peace," the chief deputy added.

Reports following Fayard's arrest indicated he had threatened suicide and started fires in his jail cell, posing a threat to other prisoners.

Peterson said both he and Fayard's family hope the hospital will retain him for a lengthy period of time.

Fayard's brother, however, said in an earlier news report that he thinks the law enforcement officers are trying to have his brother institutionalized for life, adding "there is no reason for that."

Peterson said that in the past Fayard has been released after only a few weeks in a hospital and has not remained on medication which is intended to curb his reported schizophrenic behavior.

Peterson said John Genin, Fayard's court appointed attorney, "tried to get Fayard institutionalized on a more permanent program of hospitalization."

"His family wants him to stay for a while, also," Peterson added.

"We saw the boy was in bad mental shape and in need of help," the chief deputy continued.

Federal Court ok's judgement sales tax

A court order approving the City of Bay St. Louis' plan to pay a federal court judgment by levying a half-cent sales tax has been entered by U.S. District Judge Walter L. Nixon.

A local and private bill adopted by both houses of the Mississippi Legislature and signed by the Mississippi Governor Cliff Finch authorizes Bay St. Louis to collect an additional half-cent sales tax on sales bearing five percent tax.

The judgment awarded $375,000 in 1975 to relatives of Jimmy Ray Warner who died from injuries he acquired in a diving accident at the city pier in 1969.

The proceeds are to be used to pay the judgment, interest and the city's legal expenses in the case which total $481,000.

The court order states that if the plan is not implemented and the judgment paid within six months the city's petition for adjustment of debts should be dismissed.

Nixon's order authorizes city officials to proceed with publication of notices of the proceeding and intention to levy tax.

Fishermen await marina decision

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Gulf Fishermen Inc. Board of Directors, in a split vote at its meeting Tuesday night, approved President Thomas Holzhauser's bid on behalf of the association to operate the Bayou Cadet Marina.

Voting five for; one against; and one abstaining in a secret written ballot, the directors approved Holzhauser's submission last week of a bid to the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

Holzhauser, without authority from the board of directors, had offered a bid of $150 per month for Bayou Cadet Marina's operation.

In addition, the board appointed members Ronnie (Pops) Tangulis and Marshall Strong to represent the association in contract negotiations at a Port and Harbor Commission meeting slated for 7:30 p.m. tonight at the commission office, Hwy. 603 and US-90.

However, Joyce Garcia, secretary of the organization and a board member, said in an interview last night she does not plan to relinquish her bid for marina operator which she submitted as an individual.

Garcia bid $100 per month for a one-year lease in addition to a proposed $22,000 capital investment.

The Commission is expected to choose one of those two bids at its meeting tonight.

The Commission's recommendation must then be submitted to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for approval.

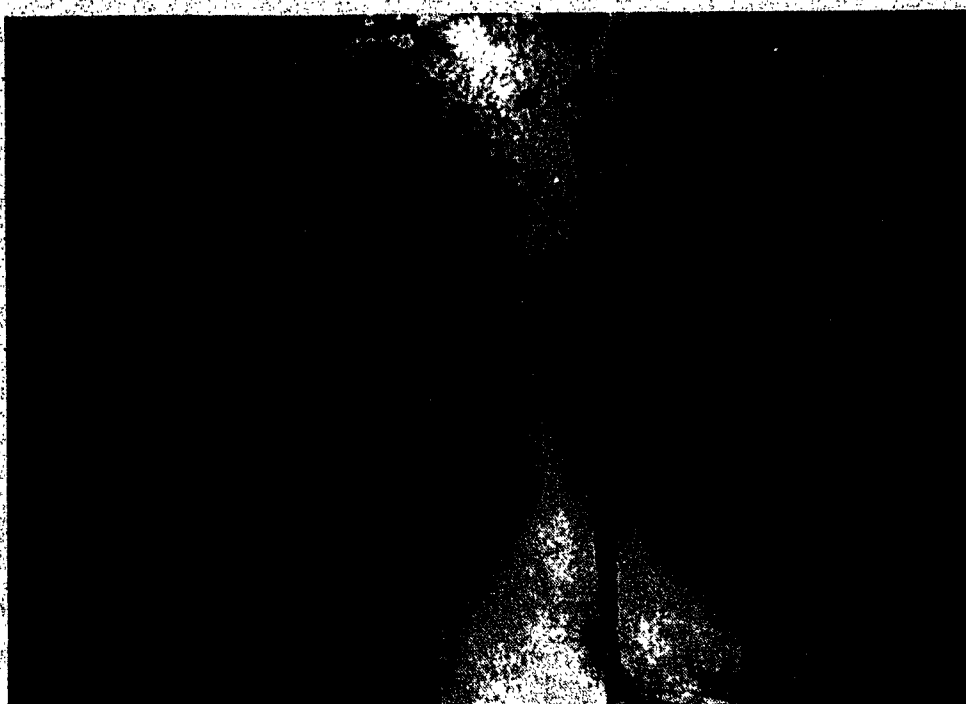

Holzhauser stated Tuesday he submitted the bid without association board approval because he discovered Ms. Garcia had submitted her bid about two hours before a Commission meeting last Thursday, "... and therefore I had to act quickly."

The board set the next association general membership meeting and election of officers June 1 at 7 p.m.

Of 36 fishermen who were present at the director's Tuesday night meeting at Hancock County Courthouse, all favored maintaining membership in Gulf Fishermen Inc. Association dues are set at $12 per year.

Joseph Gex, whose law firm represents the group, said the organization is a legal entity, but has been in an "inactive status."

Gex further stated payment of a $25 penalty for not chartering the organization with Secretary of State's office is all that is required to put the organization in good standing.

Navigators warned of river currents

Mariners are warned to exercise extreme caution when operating in the Mississippi River near the Bonnet Carré Spillway between river miles 127 and 129, according to Colonel Thomas A. Sands, New Orleans District Engineer, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Navigators are advised to stay on the west side of the river channel, and when crossing the river from side to side, to do so well above or well below the Spillway area. Otherwise, there is considerable danger of craft being pulled into the bank or the structure itself by strong currents.

The Bonnet Carré Spillway was opened on April 17, to lower river stages during the current flood fight on the Mississippi River.

Many thanks

The management and staff of the Sea Coast Echo would like to extend a big thanks to all of you who helped make our Open House last Thursday a tremendous success.

It was wonderful to have more than 400 of you visit our modern news and printing facilities.

During some 84 years of the Echo's existence there have been many great occasions, but we feel our Open House at 124 Court Street was the biggest of all.

We are proud of being a part of the community, and also proud of the many compliments proffered to our staff during the event.

We realize not everyone was able last Thursday to visit us during open house, so if you would like a tour of our plant, drop in any week day except Wednesday and we will be happy to accommodate you.

Also, we are always happy to have groups such as scouts, students, Seniors, etc. etc., but - we would appreciate prior arrangements on such group tours.

Thanks again to everyone for that wonderful expression of good will given to us at our open house.

A voice for those in need!

The crew of a boat ready to sink, the driver of a vehicle broken down miles from nowhere, these were the ones happy to hear the voice of the late Hazel Mary Chatham.

Mrs. Chatham was a charter member of the Hancock County Emergency Radio Organization (HERO). She was the group's secretary for many years and just recently voted in as the only lifetime member of HERO.

Her residence on deMontluzin Avenue in Bay St. Louis was a constant station for those in distress. She had a VHF marine radio, citizens band radio and police and emergency scanners.

Ms. Chatham's late husband Harry was the engineer who set up the antennas and kept the equipment working. His death a couple years ago was a big loss to Hazel.

We are told that whenever an emergency situation existed, she stayed glued to the radios in her home, giving assistance whenever possible.

Not many of us have or will ever have given so much of our time to our fellowmen as Hazel did.

True, very few whom she helped ever met her, but they will always remember her voice the time they were in trouble.

She surely will be missed by her family, HERO members, U.S. Coast Guard, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliaries, friends and neighbors.

It is ball playing time again!

The fast approach of Summer has the balls humming and bats swinging all over the country.

Kids of all ages will be playing ball, from as young as six or seven to some young-at-hearts over 40. Male and female will be enjoying themselves in the battles for the best.

No matter the age, the playing of ball is a wholesome sport, where the parents, mates and friends can all enjoy themselves at one time.

It is a great activity, and win lose or draw one must remember not all can be winners when the final score is posted, but, everyone who plays the game are winners in our book.

If you totaled up all the teams in Hancock County, children and adults, you would probably total over several thousand.

We wish everyone a safe and happy season, free of injuries and filled with enjoyment for all.

We would also like to specifically commend the Bay St. Louis Little League on its bringing such a big celebrity as Hank Stram for opening Day.

Bay St. Louis Little League should also be commended for its dedication of this season to the late John J. McDonald.

For 20 years the Bay St. Louis Little League and many other league teams have played on the McDonald Field. We could not think of a better person's memory to dedicate the season to.

THE S.B.A. AND DISASTER LOANS
By Congressman TRENT LOTT
5th District, Mississippi

The widespread destruction caused by recent flooding in Mississippi and other parts of the country has focused new attention on the Small Business Administration and its disaster loan programs.

The power of the federal government to be genuinely helpful in rebuilding after such natural disasters is truly enormous, and a great deal of the rebuilding funds for both residential and commercial properties is handled by the SBA.

After Hurricane Camille, in 1969, for example, Mississippi's Gulf Coast was wrecked. Having been associated with former Mississippi Congressman Bill Colmer, then, I know first-hand what the federal government is capable of doing to insure that disaster victims ultimately recover from total destruction.

The cost of loans through SBA skyrocketed when President Carter vetoed legislation dealing with interest rates which had passed the Congress last year. Since I had joined in sponsoring that bill, I was disappointed with the President's action.

Now I am working with my Mississippi colleagues and others in Congress on H.R. 90, which is a bill to fund the S.B.A. disaster loan programs.

The legislation already has been approved by the House Committee on Small Business.

The legislation is an effort to bring down interest rates on disaster loans and to replenish the revolving fund in S.B.A. While H.R. 90 does not contain every item I would have wanted, it is an absolutely vital piece of legislation. Without it, SBA cannot meet the needs of the people who have lost their property in Mississippi and elsewhere.

H.R. 90 is currently pending before the House Rules Committee, on which I serve, and I am continuing to press for immediate consideration.

One of the primary holdups has been the reluctance of the administration to accept the interest rates provided in the bill, but we hope to work out an accommodation with the White House soon.

Humane Society sale this week

Editor

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Last Fall when the funds for Phase II of the spay-neuter program of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc. were exhausted, the Society promised Phase III would be opened when the Spring rummage sale would bring in the necessary funds to do so.

This letter is to inform the citizens of Hancock County that the sale will be May 4 and 5 at 113 Jeff Davis in Waveland from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Judging from the calls that come to us for assistance in having animals sterilized, there is a backlog of people waiting for this service.

We are anxious to provide it, so please, spread the word. We have a very nice selection of articles which our dear friends donate - from a baby crib to a sewing machine. All we need are customers.

We would like to take this opportunity to ask owners of dogs to be careful now that the warm weather is approaching, not to take their animals with them when they go shopping.

Leaving them in parked cars that are in the direct sun can be fatal. Even with the windows cracked, the humidity is such that the animals cannot take the heat.

Even though the intense days of summer are not yet with us, we saw two close calls at shopping centers in the area. These incidents prompted us to issue an early warning.

Hope to see you at the rummage sale. Remember, help us to help you.

Sincerely,
BAY-WAVELAND HUMANE SOCIETY, INC.

Citizen's view

Senators Go Back on a Promise

By DAVID COHEN

The United States Senate recently demonstrated why Americans do not have confidence or trust in the Congress. Senators put their own personal economic desires first and broke a promise made two years ago to be full-time public servants who would limit their outside earnings income.

In 1977, Senators voted themselves a $15,000 pay raise. To receive this pay increase and avoid a public outcry, they passed an Ethics Code which included a provision limiting to $8,000 the amount of outside income a Senator could earn annually. The limit, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1978, was advocated as a way to prevent conflicts of interest. The limit had been in effect barely two months when the Senate voted, with no committee consideration, no advance notice, and no roll call vote, to undo it.

Constituents, editorial writers and Common Cause, angry at this action in the dark, helped force the Senate to take a roll call vote to put each Senator "on the record." Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), a leader in the fight to renege the limit, said, "We must appear right as well as be right," adding that it's necessary to show the public "we aren't here just to grab what we can for ourselves." By a 54-44 vote, the Senate postponed the effective date of the outside earnings limit until 1983. The hidden agenda is to repeal the limit permanently.

The original move to delete the limit was sponsored by Senators Ted Stevens (R-Alaska) and Daniel Moynihan (D-N.Y.) and had the behind-the-scenes approval of Majority Leader Robert Byrd (D-W.Va.). It was an about-face for Byrd who in 1977 fought hard for the limit. At that time, Byrd had said: "The present situation which allows Senators to earn up to David Cohen is President of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizens' lobby.

$25,000 a year in honoraria is intolerably high and contributes to doubts in the minds of the public as to why individual groups give so much money to a Senator for his speech when he is being paid by his constituents to represent their best interests in the Senate." Back in 1977, Sen. Byrd was right.

Public financial disclosure statements show that Senators receiving honoraria often get it from those interests that have subtly favored the ask of the Senators. In 1977 a Congressional Quarterly study showed that Senators received more than one million dollars in honoraria fees. No wonder the Senate cannot stop inflation. The Senators owe part of their income to the special interests demanding special subsidies and tax breaks from government.

Senators have been receiving the salary increase for over two years now. They lived with the restriction for only two months. At a time when all Americans are being asked to sacrifice by keeping their wage increases to 7 per cent, limiting gas for their cars, and heat for their homes, the action by the Senate was a real affront to citizens.

What a majority of the Senators did was to put their personal economic interests first and at the same time show how separated they are from the rest of the country. They're counting on Americans forgetting what they did. But if they weren't cut off from their constituents, they would know that the American people do not take kindly to being treated as fools. The last laugh will be on those Senators who thought they could get away with it.

Corps reports on spillway openings, Ponchartrain levels

Current and predicted stages on the Lower Mississippi River are causing Army Corps of Engineer officials to consider the possible use of the Morganza Floodway in CENTRAL Louisiana.

As a result, letters were sent by the New Orleans District Engineer to landowners and other users of property alerting them to be prepared to evacuate livestock and other property from the Morganza Floodway.

Major General Robert C. Marshall, president of the Mississippi River Commission in Vicksburg, said the letters do not mean that the Morganza Floodway will be used during the current flood, but that its use may be required if future conditions make it necessary.

General Marshall commented that "We must be ready to handle additional rain or to reduce stages should levee problems develop, so it seems sensible to me to be prepared for possible use of Morganza."

He emphasized that he foresees no danger to protected communities in the Atchafalaya Basin should the Morganza Floodway be used. The control structure and guide levees were completed in 1956 to control the volume of water carried by the Lower Mississippi River, which passes through heavily populated and industrialized areas of Louisiana.

The structure is located about 45 miles upriver from Baton Rouge and has been used once previously, during the 1873 flood.

According to Colonel Thomas A. Sands, New Orleans district engineer, opening of the Bonnet Carre Spillway, which is another component of the district's floodway system, was completed early Monday, April 23, when the last of the spillway control structure's 350 bays or gates were opened.

The Bonnet Carre Spillway can discharge as much as 250,000 cubic feet per second of flows from the Mississippi River into Lake Pontchartrain, thereby lowering river stages between the Spillway and the Gulf of Mexico by up to about a foot. Opening of the Spillway caused the level of Lake Pontchartrain to rise by an average of about seven inches by Friday, April 20.

Opening operations continued throughout the weekend as the river at New Orleans began rising again, after falling by over half-a-foot (0.6 ft.).

The river fell from 17.2 feet on Tuesday, April 17, when opening began, to 16.6 feet

Friday, April 20, when a total of 180 bays were open.

However, the river at New Orleans rose again to 16.9 feet Saturday and to 17 feet Sunday, but dropped to 16.9 Monday, when the structure was fully open, and to 16.8 feet Tuesday, April 24.

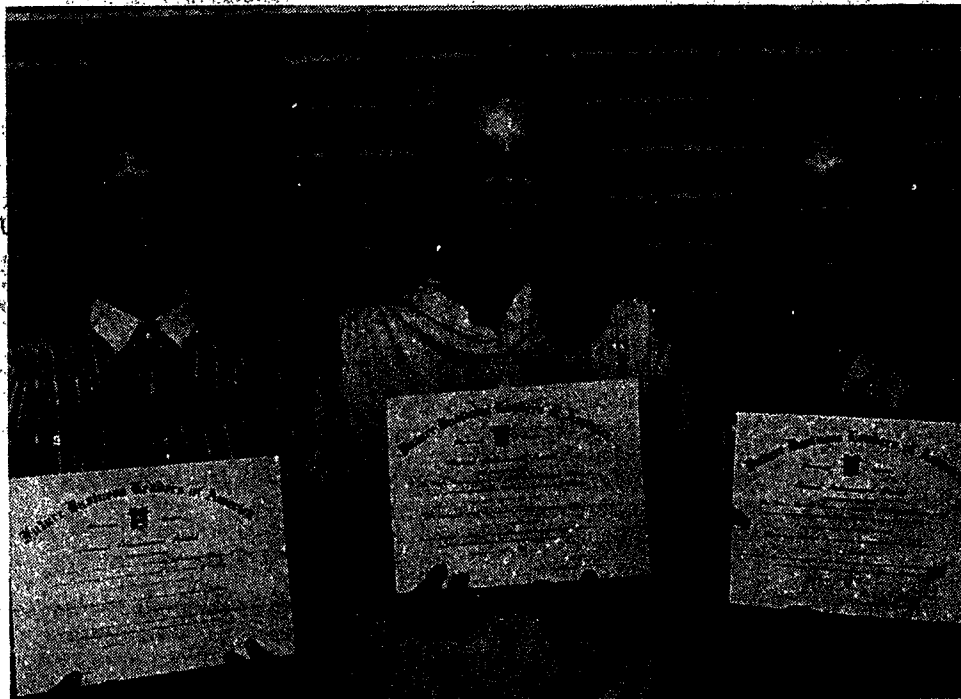

The river's rise was due both to rainfall in the basins of the Mississippi River and its tributaries and to strong southerly winds along coastal Louisiana, which produced high tides.

Colonel Sands said that the purpose of opening the Bonnet Carre Spillway is to keep the river at New Orleans at a stage as close to 16.5 feet as possible.

Meanwhile, Corps emergency operations workers assisted by local levee board personnel continue to monitor levees and perform maintenance work where required. Approximately 1,220 linear feet of board fence revetment are under construction in front of the levee near the Algiers Lock in New Orleans, and 3,400 feet of board revetment are being installed near the Louisiana State University campus at Baton Rouge.

Similar revetments have been placed below New Orleans at Port Sulphur and along the levee about 50 miles downriver of New Orleans. Board fence revetments are constructed to protect newly enlarged levees from erosion until levee construction can be completed and the levee slopes paved when the high water season is over.

Local levee district personnel are continuing to assist the Corps in flood fight activities by monitoring levees, placing sandbags and rip-rap stones where necessary, and by performing minor maintenance where required.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS - Among members of 130 Mississippi high school chapters of Future Business Leaders of America attending the organization's recent 25th annual state-wide leadership conference at The University of Mississippi were state winners, from left, Melissa Patterson, Stenographer I, Long Beach High School; Sandra Mooney, Stenographer II, Pascagoula High School; and Joy Necaise, Clerk Typist I, Hancock North Central High School. Emergency ruling closes shrimping in state waters

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission has declared the shrimp season closed in all waters under the state's jurisdiction as of sunset Monday.

Shrimping in state waters north of the Intercoastal Waterway was closed by law April 30th.

Dr. Richard Leard, MMCC director, said large numbers of juvenile brown shrimp in samples taken last Friday and Saturday from waters south of the Intercoastal prompted the emergency closing of those waters as well.

The state's jurisdiction extends three miles south of the barrier islands, he added.

The samples were taken by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratories last week and results were reported to the commission Saturday, Leard noted.

The state's barrier islands lie between 11 and 13 miles off Gulf Coast beaches, and the Intercoastal Waterway runs an average of six miles off shore.

Leard said fresh water in the Mississippi Sound from recent floods in the state and opening of the Bonne Carré Spillway in Louisiana might be contributing to the juvenile shrimp remaining in the waters south of the Intercoastal Waterway, "but we have no evidence to that effect at this time," he hastened to add.

Shrimping in the areas north of the Intercoastal which was closed by law April 30 began on June 19, 1978.

Reopening of those waters normally

WXGR experiences temporary outage

Engineers at WXGR-AM radio, Bay St. Louis, were attempting Wednesday to get the station back on the air following technical problems which caused the facility to shut down about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Steve Davenport, station manager, said personnel saw sparks and flames emitted from the main transmitter Tuesday morning, which caused an immediate halt to broadcasting.

Davenport said two capacitors were blown, causing the problems. He noted those parts seldom fail and are not easily obtained.

The parts were shipped in from Nashville, Tenn., Davenport added.

"We hope to be back on the air by noon today," Davenport said Wednesday.

varies from mid-June to early July, the commission director pointed out.

The waters south of Intercoastal, which were closed Monday on an emergency basis, normally stay open to shrimpers year-round, Leard said.

The director noted he is empowered by the Commission to close shrimping in state waters any time significant numbers of juvenile shrimps are found in specific areas.

He noted the juvenile brown shrimp are normally much closer in and north of the Intercoastal by this time of year.

Committee suggests more schools in county system

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

An advisory committee proposes a separate elementary school and a new junior-senior high school be constructed to correct deficiencies in the Hancock County School District.

The proposal was announced yesterday at a county school board meeting by Gail Pressman, representing the committee organized by the Hancock County School Board.

The Board authorized the school system's architect, John Mykolyk and Associates of Pass Christian, to prepare architectural drawings and cost estimates of the proposed facilities for the committee.

The committee will study Mykolyk's plans and specifications for the proposed facilities and present a final recommendation to the school Board at a later date.

The committee is expected to recommend the calling of a capital improvements bond issue to finance construction.

The committee suggests the elementary school include 32 classrooms, an administration facility, a cafeteria, a physical education facility and a library.

School Superintendent Terrell Randolph stated the PE facility will be a "multipurpose facility."

The committee in addition recommends the junior-senior high school be built south of I-10 on US-90.

Committee members include Clifford Lizana, Paul D. Smith, James A. Rester, A.A. Pouncey, Richard Patterson, James E. Anderson, O.J. Shiyon and Mrs. Gail Pressman.

Mykolyk estimates elementary school construction at $1.65 million and $2.4 million for the junior-senior high school.

Wayne Peterson, an outspoken critic of past bond issue proposals, said a new junior-senior high school was not needed.

Peterson also claimed media reports announcing Hancock North Central will lose its accreditation on June 30 are misleading.

He said he had spoken to Ralph Brewer of the State Department of Education, "and Brewer told me the school will not lose its accreditation in June if the school Board shows it is trying to correct deficiencies at HNC listed by the accreditation department."

Members of the school board said they are using the resources they have now to correct deficiencies, and they will submit a plan for correcting deficiencies to the Accreditation Commission.

Brewer, director of the Division of Instruction for the State Department of Education, said in a telephone interview from his Jackson office Wednesday, "The County School Board will have to present a plan June 30 to the Accreditation Commission for correcting all of the deficiencies listed at HNC."

"In the following September, a committee composed of Accreditation Commission members will return to see if the deficiencies are corrected, and if the school has not made the corrections it may lose its accreditation," said Brewer.

The school is presently on probation. Though Brewer would not say the school will definitely lose its accreditation if the committee returns and the problems are not corrected, he did say the matter is grave.

"The accreditation commission takes the problems at HNC very seriously," he emphasized.

"A member of the Accreditation Commission called the facility problems at Hancock North Central Attendance Center the worst conditions he's ever seen at a school," added Brewer.

Peterson suggested the Board begin correcting these deficiencies, but reiterated he does not want a high school built on the south end because he does not think there is a large enough body of students in the school district to require a new high school.

Board members said they have obviously begun work correcting deficiencies at HNC, listing such improvements as re-roofing.

Randolph interjected saying, "We don't want a school system where every year we are correcting deficiencies. We are planning ahead, anticipating growth, so that we can have a first class facility parents will be proud to send their children to—not some piecemeal type school."

Board members said the plan which will be submitted to the accreditation commission on June 30 will include a capital improvements bond issue, because the school system does not have enough surplus funds to correct the deficiencies.

When asked if the bond issue is listed as a solution to correcting deficiencies, and the committee later returns in September and discovers the bond issue did not pass would the school then lose its accreditation, Randolph said, "yes, that appears to be correct."

When Peterson questioned the status of the HNC accreditation, Randolph read a letter received recently from N.F. Smith, chairman of the State Commission on School Accreditation. The letter states in part:

"The letter dated April 12, 1979, written by Dale Holloway, supervisor of elementary education, to Billy Sills, principal of North Bay Elementary School... in no way reflects the findings of the visiting committee from the Commission on School Accreditation which visited Hancock North Central Attendance Center of the Hancock County School District."

"The letter which was written by Holloway was not written to any Hancock County school office; it does not name any Hancock County school; and it does not state the position of the accrediting commission regarding the accreditation of any Hancock School."

An earlier letter from Sills listing hypothetical school deficiencies was answered by Holloway who said the deficiencies listed by Sills would not be grounds for loss of accreditation.

"District Attorney Albert Necaise thought it would be better to release him to the hospital, we can always bring charges against him later," Peterson added.

Peterson said Fayard was apprehended and retained in jail "for his own safety and that of people in the area where he lives."

"We understand the boy needs help, but we don't want to jeopardize his health or that of anyone else," Judge Rubel Griffin and the district attorney know that too," Peterson added.

"This does not mean in any way that the charges are officially dropped," he explained.

"This is what everybody wants to have him cared for over a period of time until he can act like a normal person," Peterson continued.

Same-day mail service gets judicial hi-sign

Mississippi Gulf Coast

Now that the restraining order is lifted, Dilley said the local service to eight post offices along the coast will allow packages to complete their journey within the same day they are mailed.

He said the service involves only the coastal area from Bay St. Louis to Pascagoula.

Dilley said, "If you place such items in one of the eight offices by noon, it will be at its destination post office by 5 p.m."

He said the mailed item must be "an across the counter transaction," and if dropped into a mailbox the time is not the same.

Dilley said there is a money-back guarantee to customers if items handled by the new service are not delivered on time.

ASK DOCTOR HIPPOCRATES

BY EUGENE SCHOENFELD, M.D.

Dear Dr. Schoenfeld:

I haven't had a physical exam for a couple of years and my roommate insists I should get a checkup soon. I feel fine, think I'm eating OK and have been running for the past two years. How often do I need a physical exam?

Answer: You're on the right track, in absence of symptoms, routine physical exams are a waste of money, time and resources.

Studies comparing people who routinely get physical exams with those who seek help only when ill consistently show that routine physicals offer no health advantages.

Women should have Pap smears once a year. Otherwise, I agree with these recommendations from a grizzled old family practitioner: "What I recommend for periodic examination is: From birth to 1 year - often; 1 to 5 years - at least annually; From 5 to 50 years - none; From 50 on - for any pain of disorder that lasts more than 24 hours."

Dear Dr. Schoenfeld:

Long before President Carter's vacation in Idaho, my husband and I planned a two day white-water raft trip. But now I've discovered I'm pregnant! Is it safe to go on the river in my condition? Sometimes people are thrown from the boats.

Answer: When thrown from a boat in rapids, there's always a chance you could be injured.

Based on my one ride down the Tuolumne River, it's a slim chance, however exciting the ride. You could be thrown against a rock and injured, but it's unlikely the only injury would be to your unborn child.

Anytime a pregnant woman risks her own health, of course, she automatically puts her unborn child at risk. Beyond that, there's no reason for women to restrict their normal physical activities early in pregnancy if the feel well otherwise.

After the seventh month or so, you might have trouble finding a maternity wet suit. And wet suits are necessary on many rivers.

The Tuolumne was a brisk 47 degrees F on a sunny day in May.

Pregnancy, by the way, is an indication for frequent medical exams.

Dear Dr. Schoenfeld:

Can you explain to me just what is holistic medicine? There are so many new organizations with "holistic" in their titles and so many types of "holistic" healers that I'm wholly confused.

Answer: I know what you mean. But here's a quote that may partially answer your question: "True physicians are students of nature and evocates of humanity, seeking for truth, and for the relief of suffering and the saving of life. They are restricted in the treatment of the sick to no exclusive method, but all methods which science and experience approve are open before them."

The source quoted is Domestic Medical Practice, published in 1916. Holistic medicine considers all the factors affecting a person's health, obviously not a new concept. Good physicians have always practiced holistic medicine.

Dear Dr. Schoenfeld: What is your latest information about paraquat contamination of marijuana? I like to get high but whenever I smoke grass now, its effects only enhance the fear I may be poisoning myself!

Answer: Your fear is understandable. Fortunately, not one case of paraquat poisoning attributable to marijuana contamination has yet surfaced, despite a few hysterics who developed some symptoms of paraquat toxicity once they were described. But no one knows the long-range effect of using paraquat-sprayed marijuana.

According to a June 1974 Federal Aviation Administration publication on "Medical Problems in Aerial Application" of pesticides, paraquat has "rather peculiar toxicological properties."

The concentrations used for spraying can cause severe damage on contacting the skin and mucous membranes. Inhalation of droplets of spray after dilution can cause nosebleeds and irritation of nose and margins. But these effects are minor compared with oral ingestion.

"The number of reported deaths from oral ingestion of paraquat, in the United States and abroad," our government publication informs us, "is already significant and climbing."

Deaths have resulted from ingesting quantities as small as one milliliter, about a fifth of a teaspoonful. The usual cause of death is due to severe lung damage.

Marijuana consumer groups like the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) urge users to protest paraquat spraying to their elected representatives, boycott Mexican products and avoid travel to Mexico.

But people who insist on using marijuana have another option. Buy it, better yet, grow American.

Marijuana is very easy to cultivate, indoors or out, using sun, incandescent or fluorescent light.

Any marijuana can cause health hazards, depending upon the person and the use, but homegrown grass at least won't contain traces of paraquat.

The hundreds of millions of dollars leaving this country annually for marijuana buys, and the hundreds of millions of dollars spent on marijuana law enforcement, are only indirectly a health issue.

But no one should forget the lives lost conducting and pursuing that illegal drug trade. A lot of weed contains traces of blood as well as paraquat.

So if you're a marijuana user, growing your own will reduce health risks, aid the balance of trade and perhaps save the life of a smuggler or narcotics agent. Or is this just wishful thinking?

Dr. Schoenfeld welcomes your questions but can reply to questions only within this column. Write to him: c/o the Echo.

HNC basketball star signs with Choctaws

Dean Shaw, a 6-4 guard from Hancock North Central, has been signed by Mississippi College to a basketball grant-in-aid scholarship according to Choctaw Head Coach Dr. Doug Hines.

In announcing the signing, Hines praised the speed and passing ability of Shaw and said he is a good organizer of the fast break.

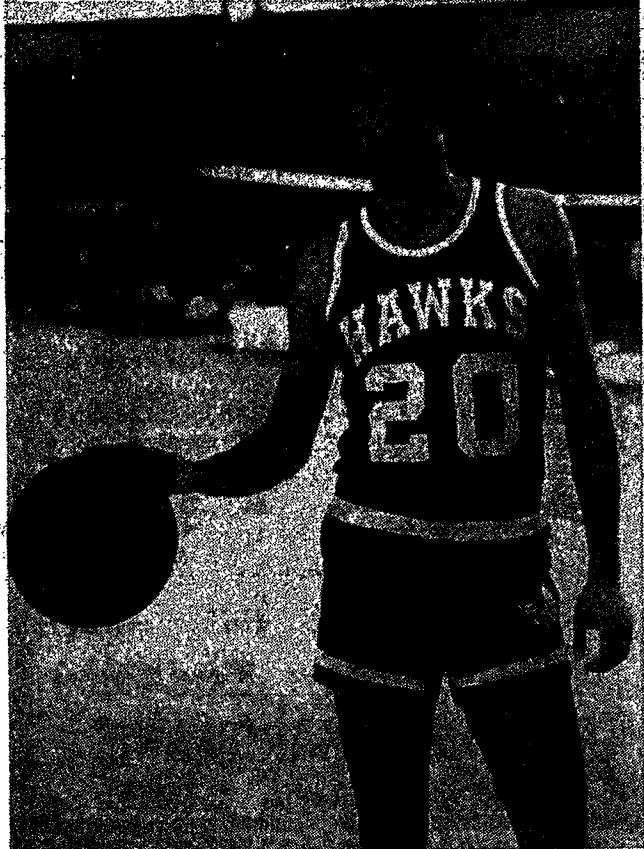

"We are delighted that he has decided to come to Mississippi College and he will be a great asset to our overall program," said Hines.

Shaw played in 34 games for HNC Head Coach Roland Ladner, scoring 358 points for an average of 10.5 per game.

He hit 53 percent from the charity line. He averaged 2.3 assists per game as HNC finished the season with a 25-11 season.

Shaw becomes the third signee of the year for the Choctaws.

Mayor declares 'Hank Stram Day' to open Bay Little League season

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry J. Bennett reports Saturday has been officially declared 'Hank Stram Day.'

The mayor said in an official release, "It is not often that our city is fortunate enough to have someone of the caliber of Mr. Stram devote an entire day to the children of Bay St. Louis."

Coach Stram has just signed a new contract with CBS as football sportscaster. He will be covering a total of 45 games; next season, including regular Monday night games, Sunday afternoon games, the playoffs, the Pro Bowl, and the Super Bowl.

Besides operating the Hank Stram Health and Racket Ball Club, he has been participating this spring in Celebrity-Pro-Am Golf Tournaments all over the country.

"He has just returned from Montgomery, Ala., where he participated in the George Lindsey Hee Haw Tournament for retarded children.

Stram commented, "It makes me proud to be asked to be a part of Bay St. Louis Little League Association kick-off events. I still get a thrill when the little people have a chance to continue the American standards of competition through sports and sports related activities at a very young age."

It means a great deal to me to contribute in some small way to the athletes of tomorrow," Stram stated.

SHAPE A SHARP HOOK

Most fishermen wrongly assume that a lure's hooks are sharp when they're new.

In some cases, perhaps, but most hooks are mass-produced and never receive the kind of sharpening needed to make them effective.

Many anglers never bother to check hooks for sharpness, much less attempt to sharpen them after they've been used. The importance of sharp hooks is better understood by realizing that it takes three to four times as much force to sink the barb of a dull hook as it does a properly sharpened one.

The sharpening method used by Mercury outboards' fishing experts is easy to learn and will add greatly to your success.

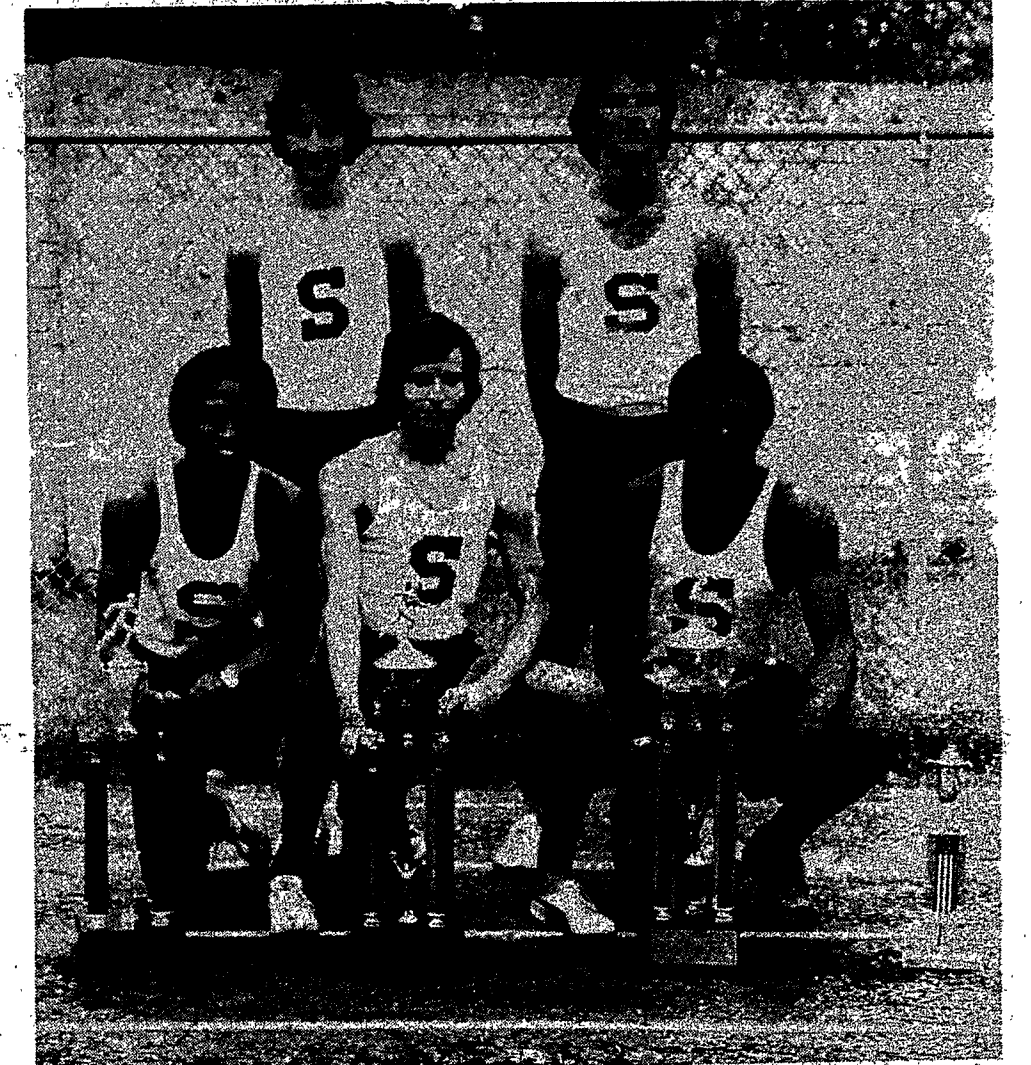

It calls for shaping the hook into a triangle with two sharp edges for better penetration. The tools needed are a jeweler's file and a piece of 180-grit carborundum paper.

Begin filing at the barb, on top, stroking toward the point on one side of the hook. Form a flat, beveled edge sloping toward the pointed underside of the hook.

Do the same on the other side of the hook, always working toward the point.

Complete the sharpening job by forming the point of the hook into a horizontal oval with the carborundum paper.

Test the hook's sharpness holding it upside down by the eye, running the point across a fingernail. A dull hook slides easily; a sharp hook grabs and leaves a scratch on the nail.

FOURTH YEAR WINNERS—These five athletes at St. Stanislaus have assisted in winning four straight PRC conference titles. In 1976, they took the PRC Junior High School Crown. In 1977, 1978, and 1979 won the high school trophies. Proudly displaying the spoils of victory are, from left, Craig Singleton, John Logan, Mark Koch, Wayne Hoda, and Charles Vincent. Stanislaus to host walking marathon

The St. Stanislaus student council will sponsor the "Bay St. Louis Marathon," a walking marathon, Sunday at 4 p.m.

The race will begin at Bay St. Louis City Hall, proceed down Second Street, continue along Main Street to the beach, turn up Union Street, go along Hancock Street to Booker Avenue, and conclude at the SSC parking lot.

The course is a mile-and-a-half route.

The race will be run in a 'heel-and-toe fashion,' meaning the heel and toe of each foot must touch the ground alternately.

The rules for the event state that contestants must follow BAY SAINT LOUIS MARATHON the course marked off by the race committee.

There will be no pushing, fanning or any other type of foul. Any contestant committing a foul will be disqualified and asked to leave the course, according to the rules.

Registration will begin at 3:30 p.m. in front of City Hall.

and a 50 cent registration fee is required.

Trophies, to be presented Sunday at 9 p.m., will be awarded to the top three place finishers.

Brief

FISH BEHAVIOR

Some fish are swimming these days with small ultrasonic transmitters implanted in their bodies.

Biologists are using the radios to find out more about fish behavior, and they're learning some interesting things.

One research project reported to Mercury outboards' fishing department involved placing transmitters in 24 largemouth, smallmouth and spotted black bass in a Tennessee lake.

Among other things, biologists wanted to determine the relationship between fish movement and such things as water surface temperature, barometric pressure, water levels, cloud cover and water turbidity.

Of all the variables, the study showed that only water surface temperature was associated with major fish movement.

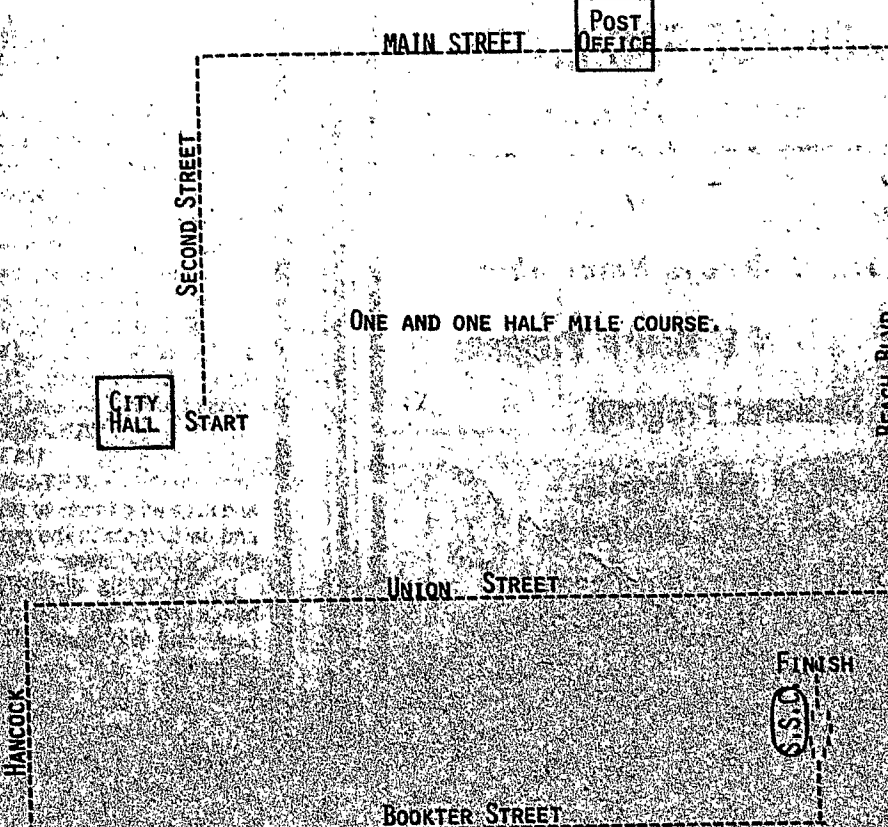

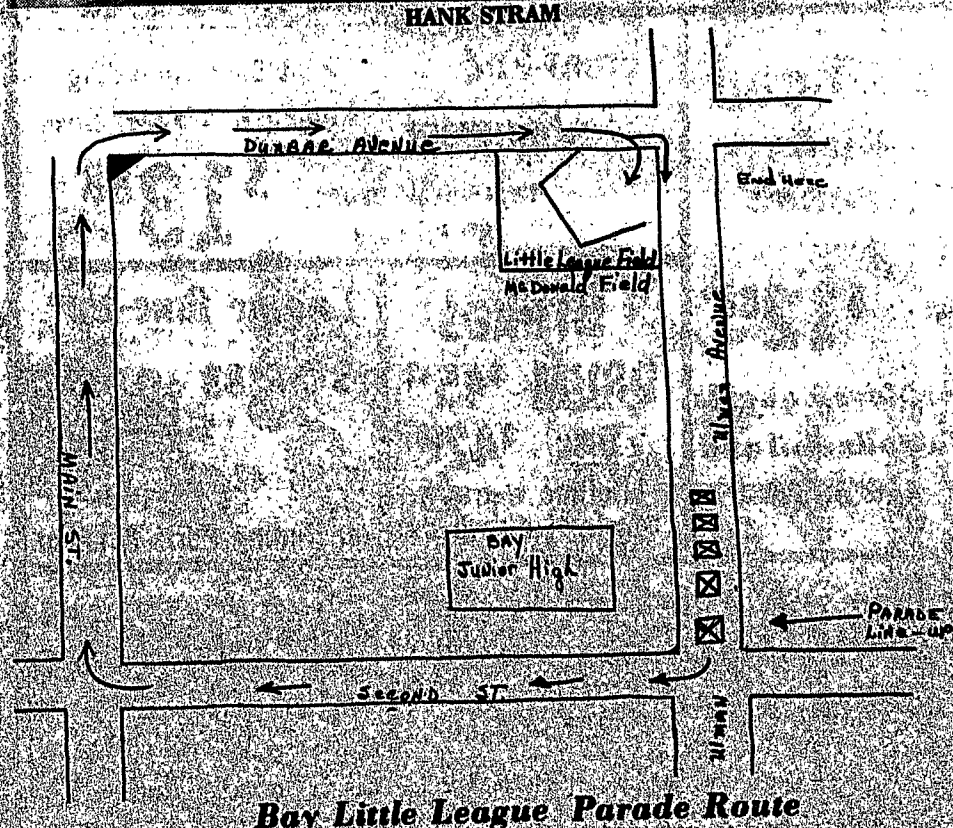

An intensive creel census of anglers showed that the per-hour catch rate of black bass rose between major movement periods, indicating that fish movement and the lack of angler success are related.

Most fish movements occurred in daylight hours and were associated with water surface temperatures between 52 and 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

The various fish species, when released together, went their separate ways.

Smallmouth bass traveled the farthest from the release site, with some fish going more than 3,000 feet.

Largemouth bass seldom ventured more than 1,200 feet away.

BAKED BOATER

Ask someone to name the most dangerous thing in the outdoors and the answer will probably be a snake or stinging insect.

It's hard to believe, but the fact is that more people are seriously sunburned in an hour on a sunny day than are bitten by snakes in a year.

And a sunburn can do as much damage, causing pain, blisters, peeling skin, and the increased probability of infection.

Everyone enjoys the sun, especially fishermen and boaters who long for winter to end and Spring to arrive.

But a word of caution comes from the outdoor recreation department at Mercury outboards for those who will be spending a lot of time outdoors in the next few weeks.

They recommend that you limit the time you expose skin to the sun, and gradually build up a tan.

Being on the water doubles the risk of serious sunburn, as many of the ultraviolet rays striking the water are reflected.

Clouds offer little protection from rays which easily penetrate them and continue to reach the unwary boater.

The most dangerous time of day is between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the rays are direct and the sun is hottest.

The best protection against sunburn is clothing and sunglasses. Wear a long-sleeved shirt, trousers and a cap.

Dr. Kent Wyatt, president of DSU, will preside over the 5 p.m. ceremony.

Dr. Wyatt will award the first and second diplomas to honor academic excellence.

The first diploma is traditionally awarded to the student compiling the highest academic average for four years' attendance at DSU, with the second diploma going to the transfer student with the highest average for two years' work at the University.

A full schedule of activities is scheduled for the seniors on commencement day, beginning with the traditional senior breakfast at 8:30 a.m. in the Young-Mauldin Cafeteria. The seniors are guests of honor and tables are attended by faculty members. Baccalaureate services are scheduled for 11 a.m. in the coliseum.

The University Alumni Association is sponsoring the annual breakfast honoring graduating seniors and graduate students also on Sunday, May 6, at 8:30 a.m. in the Young-Mauldin Cafeteria. This is the occasion when graduates are welcomed into the Association, according to Alumni Secretary Hugh Ellis Walker.

Parents and spouses of graduates are also invited and seniors should notify the alumni office of their plans to attend the breakfast and the number of guests prior to May 4. The Alumni Office is located in the Union, Room 300, and the telephone number is 843-2789.

Eight plead guilty of possession

By RICH ADAMS
Eight of 14 persons who were arrested Saturday on charges of possession of marijuana pleaded guilty in District Four Justice Court Tuesday night and were fined $100 each.

The men were arrested during a raid by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department following a month of surveillance of Kiln residence, according to Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson.

Justice Court Judge Joseph Dobson found each of the eight guilty. The eight men are Robert W. Warden, 23, Gulfport; Perry Moran, 23, Gulfport; Randy J. Moran, 22, Gulfport; Philip Haas, 23, Nicholson; David L. Haas, 21, Kiln; Richard A. Mitchell, 21, no address available; and Stephen Haas, 20, Kiln.

Six men released after being found not guilty are Malcolm Pearson, 32, Hattiesburg; James Gandy Jr., 27, Laurel; Joseph Giglio, 30, Pass Christian; James Russell, 33, Slidell; Edsel Baker, 39, also of Slidell; and Doug Spiers, 29, Pass Christian.

Those six pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Peterson said his department had been running surveillance on the home for one month, and received information from an unnamed informant prior to the raid. Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said he believed the home was rented to one of the men arrested, and would not release the name of the owner.

Accompanying Ladner and Peterson in the raid were Deputies Paul Bernard, Delbert Seay, Chris Sands, Ronnie Cuevas, Mary Beth Ivancik, and Highway Patrol Investigator T.P. Naylor.

"We found seven lids of marijuana at the party and marijuanna paraphernalia," Peterson said.

Peterson said the marijuana was valued at approximately $400.

"From the information we received, the marijuana was bought to be smoked at the party, not for resale on the streets," the lawman said.

Peterson said several of the persons arrested are members of a motorcycle group called "Watash" who are based in Kiln.

Peterson said four women were at the home when the raid was conducted, but were not arrested because the male suspects said the women had no responsibility for the marijuana being in the home.

REVENUE BONDS
OF THE
KILN WATER AND FIRE
PROTECTION DISTRICT
HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Commissioners of the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District of Hancock County, Mississippi (hereinafter referred to as the "District"), at Kiln, Mississippi, until 10:00 o'clock P.M. on the 22nd day of May, 1979, at which time said bids will be publicly opened for purchase, at not less than par and accrued interest, to the date of delivery of an issue of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($300,000) principal amount Water and Fire Protection System Revenue Bonds of the District (the "Bonds").

The Bonds will be dated July 1, 1979, will be of the denomination of $1,000 each, will be numbered serially from one (1) to three hundred (300) inclusive, will be issued in bearer coupon form, and will bear interest at the rates specified in the accepted bid, payable July 1, 1980, and annually thereafter on July 1st in each year. Both principal and interest on the Bonds will be payable at a place to be designated by the purchaser, subject to the approval of the Board of Commissioners. The Bonds will mature serially on July 1 in the years and principal amounts as follows:

| YEARS | AMOUNTS |
| 1981-1990, incl. | $300,000 |
| 1991-2000, incl. | 0.00 |
| 2001-2010, incl. | 0.00 |
| 2011-2019, incl. | 15.00 |

Bonds maturing July 1, 1990, and thereafter shall, at the option of the District be redeemable, in whole or part, in inverse numerical and maturity order on July 1, 1989, or upon any July 1 thereafter, upon not less than thirty (30) days prior notice, at par and accrued interest to date of redemption.

No bonds shall bear more than one (1) rate of interest, and will bear interest from its date to its stated maturity date at the interest rate specified in the bid; all bonds of the same maturity shall bear the same rate of interest from date to maturity. No interest payment shall be evidenced by more than one (1) coupon and neither cancelled nor supplemental coupons shall be permitted; no interest coupon shall vary more than twenty-five percent (25 percent) in interest rate from any other interest coupon of the same bond issue. The Bonds shall not bear a greater overall maximum interest rate to maturity than seven percent (7 percent) per annum, and the interest rate of any one (1) maturity shall not exceed seven percent (7 percent) per annum. Each interest rate specified in a bid must be in a multiple of one-tenth of one percent (1/10 of 1 percent) or in multiples of one-eighth of one percent (1/8 of 1 percent), and a zero rate of interest cannot be named.

Any premium must be paid in bank funds as a part of the purchase price and bids shall not contemplate the cancellation of any interest coupon or the waiver of interest or other concession by the bidder as a substitute for bank funds.

The Bonds will be executed and delivered pursuant to the authority and provisions of Sections 15-5-1 through 15-5-27, Mississippi Code of 1972, and will constitute a lien upon and be payable solely from the revenues derived and to be derived from the water and fire protection system of the District, subject only to the prior payment of the reasonable and necessary expenses of operating and maintaining said system, and from the avails of a special two mill tax on all of the taxable real property in the District, as authorized by said Sections 15-5-1 through 15-5-27, Mississippi Code of 1972.

Proposals to purchase the Bonds should be addressed to the Board of Commissioners, should be plainly marked "Proposal for Water and Fire Protection System Revenue Bonds" and should be filed with the Secretary-Treasurer of the District on or prior to the date and hour hereinabove named.

Each bid must be accompanied by a cashier's check, certified check or exchange, issued or certified by a bank located in the State of Mississippi, payable to the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District, Hancock County, Mississippi, in the amount of Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000) as a guaranty that the bidder will carry out his contract and purchase the Bonds if his bid is accepted. If the successful bidder fails to purchase the Bonds pursuant to his bid and contract, the amount of such good faith check will be retained by the District and covered into the proper fund as liquidated damages for such failure.

The Board of Commissioners reserves the right to reject any and all bids submitted. If the District does not receive a bid resulting in an average rate of maturity of 7 percent per annum or less, the District reserves the right to sell obligations in a like principal amount at private sale.

The Bonds are offered subject to the unqualified approval of the legality thereof by the law firm of Watkins Pyle Ludlum Winter and Stennis of Jackson, Mississippi. The District will pay for the printing of the Bonds and the legal fees in connection with said issue. Delivery of the Bonds will be made to the purchaser within sixty (60) days after the date of the sale of the Bonds, at a place to be designated by the purchaser without cost to the purchaser.

It is the opinion of bond counsel that the interest on the Bonds will be exempt from federal and State of Mississippi income taxes under existing statutes as presently interpreted and construed. By order of the Board of Commissioners of the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District, Hancock County, Mississippi, this 24th day of April, 1979.

Heavy schedule planned at Gulf Park

College students from the Mississippi Gulf Coast have a unique educational opportunity for the summer, regardless of the college or university they attend.

On the Mississippi Gulf Coast the University of Southern Mississippi will be offering over 150 classes this summer in their regular degree programs.

These same classes may be taken by students that regularly attend the USM main campus in Hattiesburg, or any other college or university.

"This unique situation gives students from any university who have 54 or more hours to their credit the opportunity to be at home for the summer, possibly hold a summer job, and get a few courses off in the evenings," said Louis Elias, director of student services at Gulf Park.

"Our staff is ready to consult or advise students so they will be ready when registration arrives," Elias said.

Students who attend an institution, other than USM, should bring a copy of their transcript to registration and have 54 or more semester hours to their credit.

Students regularly enrolled at USM in Hattiesburg need only contact the admissions office at Gulf Park and give notice they wish to take work on the Coast this summer.

Work taken on the regional campus carries the same credit as if it were taken on the Hattiesburg campus.
